Mary is the President and CEO of Cyfendry, a cybersecurity consulting firm based in Dallas, TX, serving small-medium sized businesses and providing specialized training for professionals with an interest in cybersecurity.

For the past seven years, Mary has served in security assessments and risk advisory roles. Most recently, she served as a Security Risk and Audit Manager as well as a Subject Matter Expert (SME) focusing on IT governance and policy compliance. Throughout her management tenure, Mary facilitated several high level projects for both public and private organizations across the United States.

In addition to her passion for cybersecurity, Mary served on the ISACA Exam Quality Assurance Committee as a SME, who developed and analyzed examination materials for the Certified Information Systems Auditor (CISA) professional certification.

All in all, Mary is committed to advocating for the improvement of lives through personal mentorship, educational training, and career support. As such, she is the founding executive member and chapter leader for the Women's Society of Cybersecurity – Cyberjutsu (WSC) in Dallas, TX.
